

Foothill 2030: Vision Statement Revise

Drafting the Vision Statement

March 25, 2024

A. Byrd
E. Kuo
V. Villaneuva

Agenda

- Review draft vision statements
- College level communication

Review Homework from 3/11

- Our next meeting is in person during finals week (3/25)
- Draft a vision statement:
  - College goals: Belonging, Flexibility, Pursuing Knowledge
  - How the goals are demonstrated: Student Care, Innovative, Evaluating Information
- Get creative!

Drafting a Vision Statement

- Take a few minutes to review all past inputs that will help inform our new vision statement.
- In pairs, share your draft vision statement with your partner. Explain how you came to your current version of the draft statement. (Practice active listening)
- Write your draft statement on the big white paper to share out with the group
- As a group we will take time to review all the drafts, sharing what stand outs for each of us and the stakeholder group you represent, by naming it below.

Rubric

- Linked to the Mission Statement
- Forward/Future Looking
- Concise
- Not Cliché
- Measurable*

Where do we go from here?

- Steering committee takes the first swing at drafting?
- Input into ChatGPT as a first step?
- We, as a group, create the first draft?
- None of the above or some variation?

Vision Statement Takes Shape

- Sharing with our college community

College Communication

- What is the team members' role?
- What about the President?
- What about a survey?

Is our work reflective of our values?

Honesty | Integrity | Trust | Openness
Transparency | Forgiveness |
Sustainability

Our work should be value-driven?

- What we've heard:
  - Current college values are vague and undefined
    - Do you not see yourself in these values?
  - Challenges to reflect on our current vision work because these values are vague and undefined (incongruent?)

Our work should be value-driven?

- Do we need to work to define the college values while revising the vision statement? (otherwise is our work empty?)
  - Is it possible that we can define these values for our team so that we can continue moving forward?

Next Steps

- Continue crafting vision statement
- Gather and collect campus ideas and feedback
- Do we need to meet after April 16?
