What is not yet Clear...

- How much will be cut from which categorical programs in 08-09?
- What will our budget be for 09-10?
- How many students will enroll in 09-10?
- What instructional programs might have to be discontinued in 10-11?

We Do See That We Must:

- Limit expenditures to the most essential items
- Hold positions vacant for as long as possible
- Identify additional budget reductions of $3 million, $4.5 million, and $6 million
- Simulate 09-10 FTES targets between -5% and +1%

We Must Also:

- Find additional sources of revenue
- Establish more external partnerships
- Increase collaboration with De Anza

We Envision Foothill College in 2009-2010...

Focused on transfer, career technical education, and basic skills...

Providing services that support student access, retention, and success...

Engaging the entire campus in the prioritization of human and financial resources...

Rebuilding community and morale in the midst of loss...

This presentation is dedicated to all the students of Foothill College—past, present, and future.

It is you who are the State of the College and why we are here.

ASFC ACCOMPLISHMENTS

❖ ASFC Growth and Development:

ASFC amended its governing documents to expand its membership by creating numerous positions dedicated to marketing. These new positions attracted students with academic interest in media, communications, art and design. Furthermore, ASFC ran a large marketing campaign year-round in order to encourage student involvement. The outcome was very successful; ASFC remained filled year-round with over 40 voting members, a large increase from previous years and the increase in student involvement has not seemed to slow. With this newfound growth, ASFC was able to expand on many events as well as create new ones. In October, ASFC held a mock election to encourage student involvement in the upcoming national election. All students, regardless of age or nationality, were allowed to participate. In January, ASFC collected over 2000 signatures in a petition against budget cuts to education. This petition was sent to various state legislatures. Currently, ASFC is holding elections for next year's officers with a record-setting 24 candidates and we predict to collect over 900 student votes, double from what had been collected in previous years.

❖ Statewide Advocacy:

Annually, student leaders participate in the California Community College Student Affairs Association (CCCSAA) Fall Leadership conference as well as Student Senate for California Community Colleges (SSCCC) Fall and Spring General Assemblies. At the SSSCCC General Assemblies, student representatives from the 109 community colleges gather to discuss issues and attend numerous breakout sessions as well as elect students to serve as Senators of SSSCCC. During this year's Spring General Assembly, a Foothill student was elected by the colleges of the state to serve as a senator on SSSCCC, continuing Foothill's direct involvement in statewide advocacy. Foothill has had a student elected by the community colleges to serve as a Senator since the senate's inaugural year in 2006. This past February, Foothill College hosted the California State Black Caucus Conference. In March, a delegation of Foothill students went to Sacramento to take part in March in March, a rally to fight against the legislature's budget cuts to community colleges. Foothill students met with various members of the assembly and senate to express their concerns.

❖ Budget Development:

The ASFC Budget Commission developed a budget that provided funding for a number of new and existing programs and services and developed new Mission Based guidelines that would ensure that ASFC take into account the current state of the economy in their budgeting decisions as well as continuing Foothill's continuing effort to increase its sustainability. We were able to fully or partially fund all 30 fund requests that we received. These requests came from programs that lacked the resources due to current state of the college budget as well as new and exciting programs that had just been established. A notable addition is the Foothill Loop Magazine, a publication run by the honors division. This will provide Foothill students with a valuable marketing and communication tool.

❖ Shared Governance:

ASFC representatives served on the following shared governance committees: College Round Table, Sustainability, Student Learning Objectives, Budget Task Force, Educational Resources, Curriculum, Commencement, Academic Senate and Chancellor's Advisory Council.

❖ Owl Card Development:

The student body card has continued to grow over the course of the past several years with the numbers of students who purchase the card steadily increasing each year.

❖ Cultural Programming:

ASFC continued the sponsorship of the six cultural heritage months, Black History Month, Jewish Heritage Month, Women's History Month, Asian Pacific Islander Month, Latino Heritage Month and Gay Lesbian Heritage Month, which provided multicultural enrichment and the opportunity for exposure to new ideas for our diverse student body. These cultural celebrations continue to grow, serving more students and the community, and involving more students in leadership roles as part of the campus wide planning. Approximately 15,000 students, staff and community members are served through the course of the six heritage months.

❖ Campus Clubs:

The number of ASFC chartered campus organizations continue to be very active with an average of 50 active campus clubs per quarter. ASFC sponsored the quarterly Club Day with an average of 500 students in attendance per quarter.

State of the College Report Classified Senate Accomplishments 2008-2009

The Foothill College Classified Senate was established in December 1988 in response to a 1987 accreditation report citing a lack of staff participation in governance. With the strong support of the college president, both rhetorical and financial, Foothill's Classified Senate immediately assumed a leadership role in the state. Over the ensuing years, the Senate participated actively in the development of college policy and procedure alongside faculty, students, and administrators. However there was an interval of several years when institutional support for the senate waned, and less effective participation was the result. Recent efforts by our Senate leadership and our new President Judy Miner, have contributed to significant progress in restoring effective participation by classified staff.

❖ Advocacy for Restoration of Classified Governance Resources

In response to requests for an office and computer, the Senate was assigned an office this year to be shared with the Association of Classified Employees bargaining unit. The Senate is grateful for the resources to plan and implement activities (and to store materials). Ideally in the future, we will be able to have our own office. Our need for reassigned time remains. The Senate has asked for restoration of reassigned time and backfill budget to fund replacement workers for classified staff conducting Senate business. Both work coverage and an enabling budget were described upon the Senate's creation two decades ago as essential to the Senate's success. While we now have an oral agreement that our officers will be able to do their jobs, we have yet to receive a written confirmation, and of course no funding. We believe that a Memorandum of Understanding is critical to maintain active participation, especially in light of staff reductions. We will continue to advocate for the precious resource of time through our bargaining unit.

❖ Classified Staff Representation in Shared Governance

Classified staff members seek to be valued contributors to shared governance at Foothill College. Representatives from Classified Senate sat on shared governance committees including Legislative, Chancellor's Advisory, District Budget, Ed Resources, Roundtable, and the Human Resources Advisory Committees to provide a classified perspective to the decision-making process. Classified staff were also invited to attend the annual leadership retreat at Chaminade. This year in particular was pivotal for classified staff participation in governance. Classified staff participated in task forces and made significant contributions to a new governance structure of integrated budget and planning that will include classified participation at critical levels in response to new accreditation standards. The Senate looks forward to this new challenging structure that will be initiated in the Fall of 2009.

❖ Classified Employee Recognition Week

In conjunction with the California State Classified Employee Week, the Classified Senate promotes and celebrates its classified staff in May each year. This year the staff created a presentation highlighting classified staff involvement in student success for the Board of Trustees May 4 meeting. The presentation to the Board was warmly received. In addition, each year the Senate appoints a committee that plans events to honor the work of all Foothill classified staff members. The week's events often include placing items in classified members' mailboxes. These little gifts might include small office items, candy, notes or something related to a theme that was chosen by the committee, and there is a campus-wide celebration held at the end of the week. This year's recognition week was celebrated May 11-15.

❖ Classified Leadership Institute

The Senate now regularly sends officers and other interested staff to the Classified Leadership Institute of the California Community Colleges Classified Senate. The Institute is held each year in June at Granlibakken in Tahoe City for the purpose of providing hands on training in for Classified Senate officers, developing leadership skills among California community college staff leaders and enhancing their professionalism. For the past 4 years (including this year), Foothill classified staff have presented multiple sessions at the Institute. This year's Institute takes place June 4-6.

❖ Classified Staff Retreat

The Classified Staff Retreat is held annually and all classified staff are encouraged to attend. The retreat is a place to nurture cooperative working relationships, to foster a sense of campus community, and to boost professional and personal growth. Each retreat has its own theme, which is usually reflected by keynote speakers and/or related activities. The Classified Senate staff members form a working committee with other classified employees to plan and implement the retreat. This year's retreat was held on Friday, May 8. The theme was "Wellness in the Workplace". We are especially pleased that this year was the first time since 1996 that De Anza College employees joined with the Central Services and Foothill College employees. Along with Foothill College President Judy Miner, De Anza College President Brian Murphy, and Vice Chancellor of Business Services, Andy Dunn, two hundred and fifty employees attended and received information on wellness in governance from the President-Elect of the Classified Community Colleges State Senate, and on the new wellness initiatives instituted by the District to cut down rising health costs from Benefits Manager Christine Vo. In addition, several break out sessions provided information and discussion on various wellness topics. Leaders from all three senates reported that members wish to continue meeting together for future retreats.

❖ Administrator of the Year Award

The Foothill College Classified Senate Administrator of the Year Award recognizes the college administrator who best represents the work ethic and professionalism that the Classified Senate strives to exhibit and expect of its constituency. The Administrator of the Year will be recognized as a person with an excellent ability to direct and work with classified staff and who has garnered the respect of the classified staff throughout the campus. The Senate began presenting this award in 1999. The Administrator of the Year is announced at the annual President's End of the Year Celebration on June 11, 2009. The Senate maintains the Administrator of the Year plaque in the foyer of the Administration Building.

❖ Classified Employee of the Quarter Program

This program honors peer-elected classified staff members who have shown excellence to the campus community. This program was established in May 1995. The Classified Employees of the Quarter for this academic year of 2008-2009 will be celebrated at the end-of-the-year celebration and recognition ceremony on June 11. The Senate maintains the Employee of the Quarter plaques in the foyer of the Administration Building.

❖ Classified Employee of the Year

The Foothill College Classified Senate awards one classified staff member the honor of Classified Employee of the Year. The award recognizes a staff member who has demonstrated excellence in an extraordinary manner over the course of a given academic year. This program has been in place since June 2003. The honoree will be revealed at the President's end-of-the-year celebration on June 11. The Senate then invites the Classified Employee of the Year to the annual Classified Senate Leadership Institute conference which is put on by the California Community College Classified Senate (4CS) in June. The Senate maintains the Employee of the Year plaque in the foyer of the Administration Building.

❖ Classified Senate Website

The Classified Senate website was created during the 2004-2005 academic year. The URL is <http://www.foothill.edu/classified>. Information posted on the website includes Senate minutes, Employee of the Quarter nominee forms, retreat information, ergonomic-funding information, and the Classified Senate Constitution and Bylaws. One can find links to the California Community College Classified Senate (4CS) site, as well as several links to other important FHDA sites. The Classified Senate website will be entered into the State classified senate website competition in May 2009 with winners to be announced in June at the Classified Leadership Institute. This year the Classified Senate added a copy of the presentation to the Board of Trustees, a new page, "Mission and Milestones," and regular updates on meetings and events.

❖ Travel and Conference Funds

The officers of the Classified Senate, together with the Dean of Faculty and Staff and representation from ACE, administer the travel and conference funds that ACE negotiated for Unit 1 members. In addition, the Senate has set aside some additional funding for all classified staff, not just ACE members. The $15,000 per year ($1,000 per employee maximum) that ACE negotiated for Foothill staff in the last contract negotiation has dramatically expanded professional development opportunities for unit members, as well as the Senate supplemental funds for all classified staff professional development, which has ranged between $3,000 and $5,000 over the last few years. The Senate has had more requests for professional development than our funding allocation, but the exciting news is that staff have been attending workshops, conferences, and training events that have improved their leadership skills, job and technical skills, as well as a better understanding of the how to promote specific programs and services and the value of networking bay area colleagues.

❖ Other Accomplishments

- Coordinated classified participation in Administrator Evaluations
- Created a scholarship for students
- Established a welcoming committee for new and/or reassigned employees
- Planned to update the Classified Employee Handbook
- Sponsored 5 students to attend the Brian Copeland Theatre Event
- Updated the Constitution and Bylaws

Academic Senate Accomplishments 2008- 2009

The Academic Senate continues to direct the college in areas of academic and professional concern and has also participated at the district level through the Academic and Professional Matters Committee and Chancellor's Advisory Committee. It is a viable and strong voice for faculty in many shared governance committees and continues in a leadership role at the state level as well.

Thanks to the many faculty who have supported the Academic Senate through their dues, their time, service and effort. Following are some of the Academic Senate accomplishments for 2008—2009.

❖ Educational Master Planning and Integrated Budget Work

Working with the Office of Instruction and Institutional Research, the Senate has supported the creation of new Educational Master Planning and Integrated Budget structures.

❖ SLOs/Accreditation

The Senate has worked closely with the Office of Instruction and Institutional Research to disseminate information about the creation and assessment of Student Learning Outcomes, with the result of over 90% of SLOs written before the end of spring quarter 2009. Senate President Dolores Davison has worked with the Accreditation team as a co-chair and will continue to do so through the next 3 years.

❖ Scholarships

The Senate will award $2000 in scholarships for students in academic and vocational programs.

❖ Senate Policies/Elections

The Senate committees to bring forward Academic and Board policies for consideration by the faculty. This year, the Senate has worked to create new board policies on Instructional Materials and Academic Freedom. Policies on other issues, including course repetition and student grievances of grades, have been brought forward to the district level for consideration.

In addition, the Foothill Senate conducted an election in the spring quarter to determine a new part time senator: an election that was held entirely online, thanks to the efforts of Secretary-Treasurer Elect Robert Cormia and Elections Chair David Marasco.

❖ Academic Senate Website - <http://www.foothill.fhda.edu/senate>

The Senate continues to update its website and has an outstanding format for faculty and committee work, as well as having the minutes readily available for the Foothill community. In addition, the senate is working on an electronic distribution list to more readily communicate with faculty at the college.

❖ Committees

The Curriculum Committee continues to respond to the ever-shifting landscape of articulation and system office requirements. The Curriculum Committee has been a particularly effective shared governance vehicle this year and the excellent leadership of Foothill Senate Vice President, Carolyn Holcroft, and has successfully created a new General Education pattern that will be in effect in the 2010 academic year.

The COOL committee, chaired by Sandi Watkins, has been involved in discussions of manners by which the pedagogy of online education can be strengthened at the college; the committee's official report is being considered by the Senate during the spring quarter.

Other committees (including Buildings and Grounds, Sustainability, Scheduling, etc) continue to provide the faculty with information and input into decisions made by the college.

❖ Commencement

The Senate has worked closely with the ASFC in the selection of commencement speakers and the graduation ceremony. And we anticipate a record number of faculty participating in the commencement ceremonies this year.

❖ Tenure Review Committees

Through the efforts of the senate, all tenure review committees have been staffed and work is proceeding in the area of tenure review.

❖ Collaboration with DeAnza College Academic Senate and other groups

The relationship between Foothill and DeAnza's Senates continues to develop, with the two senates collaborating on a variety of policies and procedures. The Foothill Senate is particularly indebted to the DeAnza Senate President, Anne Argyriou, for her skilled leadership.

In addition, a formal liaison from both the Classified Senate and the Cabinet has been added to the Senate roster, allowing for more transparency of communication and greater facilitation of collaboration between all groups.
